Weekly status:

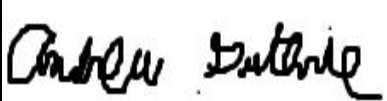

This week, the group was heavily involved in preparing and modifying our midterm report. It was completed, turned in, and was the bulk of the work this week. Also, the GNU Radio tutorials using the radios were started this week. Further developments and modifications were made to the our project's design which is nearing its completion. Each of the team member's were also assigned to watch and try the GNU Radio tutorials necessary for getting started on the actual technical aspect of this design.
